

R.A. RIDDELL ❄️ KINDER CAMP

Monday, December 30, 2024

Welcome to Camp Snow Storm in a Jar

...

Campers will explore some books related to winter and snow. They will research all the things they are curious about regarding snow. They will create their very own snowflakes using a variety of art materials.

Campers will also discover the magic of science by creating a snow storm in a jar. We will use a few household items to explore ideas such as density, gasses and gravity, while watching the beauty of snow storms.

Thursday, January 2, 2025

Storytelling through Art

...

Today, we will discover the magic of visual storytelling through fun and engaging activities.

Our campers will be given the opportunity to create their own comic book panels and storybook illustrations. The children's creativity will flow through words and images. It will encourage our young artists to become storytellers by sharing their unique narratives in a playful and imaginative way.

Through developing their stories, they are developing design, composition and the power of visual expression.

Friday, January 3, 2025

Stem Challenge: Bridge Building

...

The children will have the opportunity to engineer and explore bridge building. Using books and images of bridges the children will first design a bridge by creating a template.

After their design is complete, they will build a bridge that can hold weight using popsicle sticks, tape and elastic bands.

todaysfamily.ca